RADIO TALK SCHEDULED

Radical Organizations to Form
Third Party According to Reports

NEW YORK, June 19.—(UP)—The launching of a third party intended to attract the support of Father Charles E. Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice, the Townsend Old Age Pensions group, and various inflationary factions, was anticipated in political circles today.

Chief prophet of a new entry in the 1936 presidential sweepstakes was Coughlin, who told the United Press last night that he expected the announcement of a candidacy for president on a third party ticket same time today in either New York, Boston or Washington. Coughlin was working on a radio speech he will deliver tonight (at 9:45 p. m. EST) which will contain an endorsement of the candidate, provided he announces in time and his platform is what Coughlin expects it to be.

From Dr. Francis E. Townsend, head of the Old Age Pension plan, came contradictory statements that still, in essence, tended to confirm a prospective amalgamation of Coughlin-Townsend-Share-the-Wealth forces behind a presidential candidate other than President Roosevelt or Gov. Alf M. Landon.

Lemke Probable
Speculation as to the identity of the prospective candidate was rife as the hour for the predicted announcement approached. It centered mainly on two men — Rep. William Lemke, R., N. D., co-author of the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage bill which has had Coughlin's impassioned support, and former Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts a critic of the New Deal.

From his home in Westfield, Mass., Ely denied flatly that he was the forthcoming candidate or that he knew anything about plans for a third party.

Lemke was less forthright. He said he would support any third party movement that would support his inflationary farm mortgage bill.

HEALEY BILL VOTED

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(UP)—The house passed today the Healey bill, restricting government contracts to firms paying prevailing wages and maintaining a 40-hour work week.

Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Farley Have Different Beliefs

Republican Leader Says Landon to Take 42 States, and Roosevelt's Aide Comes Back With Claim for 48; Lehman May Reverse His Decision

NEW YORK, June 19.—(UP)—Republican National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton and Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley staked out claims for Gov. Alf M. Landon and President Roosevelt today.

Hamilton claimed 42 states for Gov. Landon; Farley named 48 for Mr. Roosevelt. Hamilton said President Roosevelt will lose even New York, his home state. Farley said it was in the bag.

Temporarily ignoring Farley's challenge to go another round by naming the states Governor Landon will win, Hamilton revoted his

Bonus Baby Balks

THE youngest man eligible for the soldier's bonus, Frank Sauliere, 31, of Boston, isn't going to collect it. He enlisted at the age of 12 years, 7 months in the 18th U. S. Ross County Prosecutor Reports Confession

CHILLICOTHE, June 19.—(UP)—Mrs. Flossie Dixon, 25, confessed to Prosecutor L. S. Reed today that she shot and killed her husband, Hubert Dixon, 41, in the hope that her son would share in his bonus money, authorities said.

The shooting took place June 8 at the family home near here. Mrs. Dixon had insisted the shooting was accidental but a private detective succeeded in obtaining information leading to her confession.

Dixon was to get about $500 bonus and told his wife that his two children by another marriage would benefit by it, officers quoted her as saying.

Families in Rural Areas to Receive $8 a Month Result of Action

Clark Hunsicker, Pickaway county representative, voted for the relief measure, which was hard-fought by the larger counties of Ohio.

COLUMBUS, June 19.—(UP)—Over-riding objections of metropolitan counties, the House of Representatives today had approved a poor relief bill drastically curtailing the amount of relief funds that will be available for the large centers of population during the last half of this year.

The bill passed the house late yesterday, carrying an appropriation of $6,500,000 for the six-months period, and goes to the senate for consideration. The senate is to reconvene next Monday night.

"As for me," he said, "I'm going to speak here Monday and in Columbus July 1, and I hope there will be no more speeches from me. I intend to get around the country, but not to speak."

His claim to New York state for Governor Landon arose in discussion of reports that Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York may reverse a decision not to run for reelection this fall. President Roosevelt would like him to run, for he is one of the best vote-getters New York Democrats ever had.

Texas Poses Led By Dogs in Pursuit of Men

ANGLETON, Texas, June 19.—(UP)—Three Texas convicts attacked Felix Smith, a guard at Retriever prison farm today, killed him with his own gun and escaped. Smith was taking the No. 3 plow squad to the field early today when he was attacked. There were several other prisoners in the group, but they did not participate in the break.

The escaped prisoners were: T. B. Atkinson, serving a life sentence as a habitual criminal. Luke Trammel, serving 25 years from Taylor and King counties for robbery and murder.

Forest Gibson, serving 10 years from Limestone county. Capt. R. W. Conner, manager of Retriever farm, formed a posse of guards and started in pursuit of the felons, led by the prison bloodhounds.

Bankhead said the bills will be called up today under suspension of the rules.

DR. BEALE DRIVES HIS CAR THROUGH CONCRETE RAILS

DR. C. C. Beale, Mt. Sterling, former Pickaway county health commissioner, escaped with bruises early Friday when his car crashed through the concrete guard posts on Route 22, west of the river bridge, and went over an embankment into the lowlands. The accident occurred about 7 a. m.

Fred Tipton, Williamsport, deputy auditor, was the first person to investigate the mishap. He found the doctor lying beside the car and believed he was seriously injured. Tipton drove to Circleville and notified Sheriff Charles Radcliff.

Before the sheriff arrived at the scene of the accident R. G. Peters, N. Court street, had taken Dr. Beale to the home of E. W. Lutz, E. Main street. The doctor was returned to his home Friday morning.

The car was not badly damaged and did not overturn in going down the embankment. The mishap occurred at the first curve west of the bridge.

PASTOR CITES VALUE OF ROTARY IN WORLD

The value of Rotary, in its international scope, to create a better feeling among nations was stressed in an address to Circleville and Washington C. H. Rotary clubs at the Pickaway Country club Thursday evening by Rev. A. K. Wilson of Washington C. H.

Rev. Wilson dwelt at length on the need for improved relationship between the nations of the world. He declared that Rotary should be a leader in this respect.

Members of the two clubs enjoyed a social evening following dinner at the club.

FOLLOWING a pitched battle between company guards and pickets at the Black & Decker plant, Kent, Ohio, in which six men were shot and a score of others were gassed and wounded, pickets are seen resting behind an embankment. Inset is of Alvin Gray, picket, who was injured. Workers at nearby plants also stopped operations to join the picket line. The battle began when guards brought in strikebreakers. William Crayford, president of the Machinists' union, which called the strike seven weeks ago, announced he would swear out riot incitement warrants for men in the plant.

Policemen, deputies and national

gunfire or gassed in the fight. Two strike breakers, removed from the factory in mid-afternoon, were in critical condition.

Gather in Streets

Although mob leaders had agreed to the removal, the sight of the strike breakers rolling out of a plant gate in a truck provoked the strikers to uncontrollable fury.

Boos, catcalls and threats rose from the mob, stretching back and menacing all about a cleared lane, and swelled in a moment into a roar. A few stones pelted the truck in which the strike breakers cowered, but before the crowd's anger turned into action the truck jerked out of the gate and roared down the mob-lined street to the jail.

The mob broke into pursuit, but under the urging of its leaders settled into a parade more awing than anything ever seen before in this little college town, the home of Gov. Martin L. Davey and more notable for its neat, small homes, shady streets, and flower gardens than for its industries.

ROYSER CHASES COW, LOSES CAR, STRAW IN FIRE

Chasing "bossie" to the barn with an automobile was successful Thursday evening for T. J. Royster, Maplewood avenue, until the cow took him for a detour around a straw stack.

Royster parked the car near the stack and left the engine running. Then he started chasing "bossie" on foot. When he returned to the car, he found the straw beneath it on fire, probably started by a backfire. Royster said the more he fought the straw fire the faster it gained headway.

The car, a Studebaker coupe, and the straw stack were destroyed. Damage was estimated at $100. Firemen went to the scene but the tank on the truck did not hold sufficient water to put out the blaze.

Royster is employed by J. W. Callahan, tenant on the Smith farm. The car belonged to Callahan. The straw and car burned in a field just west of the C. & O. railroad about 7 p. m.

Losses on Stock Market Extend as Low as Two Points; Steels Drop

CHICAGO, June 19.—(UP)—Wheat prices skyrocketed today on the nation's leading grain exchanges as the northwest drought went unbroken and the department of agriculture issued a special crop report stating that "prospects for spring grains declined in the first half of June."

Minneapolis and Duluth markets, which are quickest to reflect the condition of spring wheat, lead

The Circleville grain market responded to the general rise, other markets upward with gains of more than 4 cents a bushel. July wheat at Minneapolis sold at $1.06 a bushel, up 4 cents from yesterday. Duluth July was quoted at 97½ cents, up 4 cents a bushel.

Higher in Chicago

Wheat prices on the Chicago board of trade were 3½ cents to 3 cents higher within a few minutes after the release of the government report.

The boom in wheat was the second of the week. Minneapolis and Duluth markets soared the full 5 cent limit permitted in a single day's trading Monday.

The department of agriculture report substantiated the pessimistic reports from private grain statisticians earlier in the week, and wheat traders were easily stampeded into a heavy buying movement.

Two and a half months of drought have killed millions of bushels of spring wheat and many farmers in the Dakotas are ready to abandon their fields, according to dispatches from the northwest.

NEW YORK, June 19.—(UP)—Stocks turned irregularly lower today in light trading. Losses extended to 2 points.

Allied Chemical and American Telephone lost two points and declines of a point or more were noted in Bethlehem Steel, Mack Trucks and Westinghouse Electric. Steel shares generally were lower. Utilities and rails lost small amounts.

CONSTIPATION* MAY BE MORE SERIOUS THAN YOU THINK

It Causes Discomfort, May Even Lead to Disease

Constipation* is not a condition to be treated lightly. Continued neglect of regular habits of elimination tend to lower your resistance. Then there is the actual discomfort. For constipation* is one cause of headaches, poor appetite, listlessness.

Common constipation usually develops when you eat meals that lack sufficient "bulk." Your system fails to get needed internal exercise. Fortunately, today, you have a generous source of effective "bulk" in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Within the body, the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass, which gently cleanses the system. This natural laxative food also supplies vitamin B and contains iron.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal, with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, breads, etc. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Stubborn cases may require ALL-BRAN often. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed by the Kellogg Company as an effective laxative food for constipation.* Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

GOOCH HANGED AS KIDNAPER OF TWO OFFICERS

Lindbergh Law Takes First Victim; Plea to President Fails

STATE PRISON, MCALISTER, Okla., June 19.—(UP)—Arthur Gooch, 27, who kidnapped two Texas officers and released them unharmed after carrying them in to Oklahoma, was hanged today, first person to die for violation of the Lindbergh law.

Gooch dropped through the trap at 5:07 a. m., and was declared dead about 15 minutes later. Until the last he hoped for executive clemency.

Escaping Arrest
Gooch was convicted of kidnapping R. N. Baker and H. P. Marks in Paris, Tex., in order to escape arrest. The men were released at Snow, Okla., unharmed except for a cut Baker suffered when he fell against a plate glass in a scuffle with Gooch and Ambrose Nix, who was slain by officers at Okemah when Gooch was captured.

Gooch showed no emotion as he mounted the steps of the 18-foot gallows. He told U. S. Deputy Marshall George Hall he had no statement to make.

Doctors waited several minutes after examining the body before they pronounced Gooch officially dead.

A crowd of approximately 300, including prison and state officials, watched him die. Rich Owen, prison executioner, who has sent 58 men to death, tripped the drop.

Gooch's final hope for clemency did not fail until last night when President Roosevelt denied an appeal for a pardon.

NEW DEVICE IS USED IN CREAM WHIPPING

Cream whipping has acquired a scientific finesse in a new device known as the "Instantwhip" being distributed by Dwight Steele, E. Franklin street.

Instead of the process of whipping air bubbles into cream by hand the work is done under pressure in a special metal container. Whipped cream is obtained at an instant's notice and no failures are possible. For a small charge above the cost of one-half pint of cream for hand whipping the customer gains at least three times as large a volume of whipped cream with the new device.

The new process uses an all-metal container which is the exact counterpart of the familiar soda siphon bottle. In the sterilized container is placed one-half pint of 35 per cent butterfat cream. A connection is made between a valve on top of the container and a tank of nitrous oxide gas. Gas at 75 pounds pressure per square inch is passed into the bottle.

A cap is placed over the valve top and in this form the metal bottle and contents are supplied the consumer to be placed in the ice box until ready for use. The consumer is furnished a dispensing nozzle and when whipped cream is desired the valve cap is removed and the nozzle screwed in place.

When the pressure is released the gas dissolved in the cream expands and whips the cream instantly.

POWER SERVICE TO LOAN MONEY

Three Counties in REA Obtain $30,000 to Lend

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(UP)—The Rural Electrification Administration today made it possible for Ohio farmers, living along co-operative electric power lines, to install full wiring facilities with federal funds.

The administration announced that it had approved a loan of $30,000 to the Pioneer Rural Electric Co-operative Inc., Columbus, which in turn will re-loan the money to farmers along REA approved lines in Miami, Shelby and Champaign counties.

Terms of the loans to be made for wiring and other installation costs include re-payment within five years and three per cent interest on unpaid balances.

The loans contemplate 80 per cent of the actual wiring costs on each homestead. They may be repaid semi-annually, the due dates falling during those periods of the year when farm incomes are the highest.

Morris L. Cooke, REA administrator, said that this was the first venture into this type of electrification activity. He said that the wiring contracts would be let on a "mass basis." He believes that a great saving will result which will be passed on to the farmers using the electric service.

LUTHERAN MEN ENJOY MEETING; REV. KOCH TALKS

The June session of Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood was held Thursday evening in the parish house.

After the business session, Rev. G. L. Troutman gave a report on the Bible School that is being financed by the Brotherhood. Among other interesting things in the report were: enrollment 146 with an average attendance to this date of 136; all teachers in charge are normal graduates and are eligible to teach in the public schools.

On the Sunday following the closing of the school the regular morning service will be in charge of the school and on the same Sunday evening the school will give several Biblical plays in the parish house, to which the public is invited.

This is the tenth successive year for the bible school and much credit is due Rev. Troutman and his corps of well qualified teachers.

The guests Thursday evening were Rev. H. E. Koch and his brotherhood of St. John's congregation of Columbus.

Rev. Koch gave an interesting address on "Making Religion Our Business and Not Fooling Ourselves."

The balance of the entertainment period was taken up with an "Intellectual Base Ball Game," with Carl C. Leist in charge.

Rev. Koch captained one team and Rev. Troutman the other. The game proved intensely interesting, with Rev. Koch's team scoring 11 runs to 10 for Troutman's team.

The lunch committee, with D. E. Martin as chairman, served a fine lunch of combination bacon-egg-tomato-lettuce sandwiches, lady fingers, ice cream and coffee.

The July session will be a Brotherhood family basket picnic, with Luther Bower in charge of general arrangements and Gladden Troutman as assistant. John W. Walters will head the cats committee.

The meeting is dated for July 16 and the place will be announced later.

Holland to Join "Boys' State" Saturday

Harold Albert "Pete" Holland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Holland, 951 S. Pickaway street, will go to Columbus Saturday to take part in the 10-day Buckeye boys' state, sponsored by the American Legion in the interest of better citizenship. The program will be conducted at the Ohio State fairgrounds.

Holland, a high school graduate this year, was selected by a committee to represent Howard Hall post. Three youths were nominated for the honor.

Youths selected by American Legion posts throughout the state will convene at the fairgrounds to establish a model state, county and city governments.

The boys will have cities and counties, and elect their own city councils and their own county commissioners, judges, mayors, clerks, treasurers. They will elect their own state legislature, their governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general. In short, they will set up an exact miniature counterpart of the state of Ohio with all its political subdivisions and operate it themselves.

The legion is being assisted by city, county and state officials and by civic organizations.

The boys are being selected from all over Ohio for participation in the experiment on the basis of courage, honor, service and leadership. The camp is financed by contributions of $12.50 for each boy by legion posts and assisting civic bodies.

The cattle barn on the fairgrounds is being converted into a barracks to accommodate the boys.

As the boys arrive each will be assigned to either the white or blue party. Assignments will be made alternately so that boys from the same community will not be thrown together.

Government positions will be they are in the state, county, and local governments in Ohio. Representation in the state legislature will be apportioned on a population basis, except that each city will be assigned a seat in order to make the representation wide enough in the camp.

Various city and state officials will appear before the boys to explain various governmental problems.

MARRIAGE IS ANNULLED 3 YEARS AFTER DEATH

COLUMBUS, June 19.—(UP)—The marriage of Mrs. Grace Higgins, Columbus, to Lorraine Higgins, Chillicothe, was annulled today — more than three years after the woman's death.

The annulment, asked by Emerson L. Taylor, administrator of Mrs. Higgins' estate on the grounds of mental incompetency, was approved by Domestic Relations Judge Clayton W. Rose. The couple were married in Chillicothe, Sept. 10, 1932. Mrs. Higgins died April 29, 1933, several months after Taylor was appointed her guardian. The suit was revived in the name of her estate, estimated at more than $20,000.

America

is giving overwhelming preference to Chevrolet because it's

The only complete low-priced car

MORE than 800,000 new 1936 Chevrolets have been built and sold—more than four-fifths of a million since announcement day—the largest volume of business that Chevrolet has enjoyed in any comparable period in its entire history.

Record-breaking sales always indicate record-breaking value, and that is why we are printing these figures. They are important, not because they establish a record, but because they carry the following message to all people who have yet to buy their 1936 cars.

America is choosing Chevrolet because America is convinced that Chevrolet represents the most motor car for the least money.

"The most motor car," because it's the only low-priced car with such vitally important features as New Perfected Hydraulic Brakes and Solid Steel one-piece Turret Top for greatest safety; Improved Gliding Knee-Action Ride*, Shockproof Steering* and Genuine Fisher No Draft Ventilation for greatest comfort; and a powerful High-Compression Valve-in-Head Engine for the most efficient all-round performance.

And "the least money," because Chevrolet's low purchase price, low operating costs and low maintenance costs make it the most economical of all cars to own.

America is saying these splendid things about Chevrolet with actual buying orders! Follow America's judgment. Place your order for a new 1936 Chevrolet—the only complete low-priced car!

OPEN LETTERS

TO WPA OFFICIALS

FRIENDS: The progress you have made on the Court street repaving project is commendable. Many difficulties have befallen you; the weather has forced a delay in your operations; a shipment of bricks failed to arrive, but you have completed your program ahead of schedule, and with less money than was appropriated for the work. Your efforts are appreciated by every Circleville person, and by scores of travelers. Court street has always been dangerous with the street car tracks a menace ever since they were installed. Fatalities have been listed in Circleville's record book, blamed entirely on the slippery rails. Another angle to the repaving work is that now a traveler can enter Circleville from either end of the city and be afforded comfortable driving to the other end.

CIRCUITEER

TO COUNCILMEN, MAYOR

MEN: Your refusal to revise the old city ordinance concerning sale of fireworks in Circleville has placed a group of merchants "on the spot." They have their merchandise ordered and are threatened with arrest if they offer it for sale within the city limits. Before the Fourth numerous stands will be erected on all main roads at the edge of town. In all fairness to these dealers the police department should permit them to sell fireworks complying with state regulations. If the old ordinance is to be enforced in the future dealers should be warned in ample time so they do not place orders for this merchandise.

CIRCUITEER

TO W. M. REID

DEAR SIR: Your recent article in The Herald on the life of the Indian Princess Non-hel-e-ma, also spelled Non-Hele-ma, was very interesting. I hope the state approves this name for the new park along the canal.

CIRCUITEER

TO CIRCLEVILLE MERCHANTS

GENTLEMEN: For many years you have been interested in organizing a retailers' association, and working out methods of keeping Circleville business in Circleville. This week you heard reports about what associations of this type have accomplished in other cities. In addition you listened to an outstanding address by an authority on retail merchandising, salesmanship and business principles. His message was of practical value to every merchant, clerk and salesman in this city. Men representing 17 of Circleville's most progressive firms attended that meeting. They apologized for the small crowd and considered asking the speaker to return at a later date so more merchants could hear his message. Why should a group of progressive merchants have to work up interest in matters that will benefit all business

It was decided to hold a meeting in the near future, for the benefit of those who were absent, to establish a small fee, name officers and complete arrangements for the organization. Merchants when the date is announced, mark it on your calendar and attend.

CIRCUITEER

TO LIVESTOCK CO-OPERATIVE

MERCHANTS: It was pleasing news to every person in Circleville and Pickaway county to learn that your business increased seven per cent in May as compared with May of 1935. The increase can be attributed to several causes. Farmers are producing livestock with increasing confidence, knowing the market will provide them a fair return for their expense. The fair manner in which your service has dealt with all the farmers of the district is another factor responsible, in a large way, for your success. It is hoped business in May, 1937 will be seven per cent better than that of this year.

CIRCUITEER

TO EX-SERVICE MEN

VETERANS: I am pleased to observe the manner in which many of you are handling your bonus bonds and checks. Only a few have spent their money foolishly. Most of you are having enough bonds cashed to provide necessities you have long gone without, to pay back bills and for other proper things. Several of you are fortunate enough, and far-thinking enough, to put your bonds away to obtain the interest that is available. Several others are keeping the bonds to provide higher education for their children. It is as true in this instance as in any other, there are always some persons who do not know and never will know the value of money, but most of you who went overseas and saw action for your country know how to care for what the government has given you.

CIRCUITEER

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

DEAR FOLK: There are no thieves lower than those who steal flower baskets and vases from cemetery lots. Residents place floral displays on the graves of their loved ones and when they return find the flowers thrown away and the containers missing. It is impossible for the superintendent to watch every car that enters and leaves the cemetery. Thefts of this type are difficult to uncover. I hope cemetery officials are successful in catching one of these thieves and establish a case that will be an example to those who are interested in other peoples' property.

CIRCUITEER

TO COUNTY FARMERS

MEN OF SOIL: You have been very courageous in the face of weather conditions this summer, and I am sure you will be repaid. The outlook for prices of your various crops is good. Lack of rain has cost you much money, it is certain, but you have gone right on, tilling your soil and hoping that Jupiter Pluvius, the man responsible, favors you and your neighbors with enough moisture to produce your season's goods.

CIRCUITEER

TO ROUNDTOWNERS

FRIENDS: Congratulations to you for the numerous improvements you are making on your homes this spring. In making a trip around the city I found workmen busy on every street. Dozens are employed renovating and constructing homes. Circleville is in the midst of a building and improvement boom.

READ THIS FIRST:

Joan Spencer, a small town school teacher, recently disappointed in love, is engaged as secretary to Julian Sloane, noted writer. After a delightful summer at Sloane's luxurious home, she is awaiting his return from Europe at his town house. The only disturbing factor in her new world is Sheila True, actress and close friend of Julian's who is jealous of his new secretary. Sheila also is anticipating Julian's arrival and has her own reception planned for him much to Joan's disappointment. Dining alone in Greenwich Village, Joan meets Donald Newberry whom she hasn't seen in years. She both drop in at Betty Robinson's, an old school chum of Joan's. Joan spends the night at the Robinsons. Joan returns to Sloane's next morning to find Joan anxiously awaiting her. (NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 23

"I'M SORRY," she said penitently, looking into Julian's face when he told Joan he had planned to dine alone with her upon his return. "It didn't occur to me that you would have time to even think of me. I had dinner and spent the night with an old school friend." It was almost completely the truth.

"Then it was my fault. We'll have to forget that you have a life all your own. It was selfish of me." Joan glowed hearing those words.

Later, in the library, she helped him to unpack his papers and listened—thrilled—to all that he had to tell her about what had been accomplished in London. Gilbert Haggerty had sketched the outline of the play. The work of adapting it lay before them. Julian, in his excitement, seemed younger to her than when he had gone away.

"It will mean hard work," he said, "and practically no private life. When I start a play everything else goes out of my mind and I work at odd hours. However, I don't suppose that you have any lien on your time. Have you?"

Joan said that she didn't. She might have said that Alex Garrity was going to claim much of it. She might have said that she had a date the next week with Donald Newberry but she didn't. Dates never seemed important when she was with him.

"About the present," he said at last. "I was terribly busy, Joan, and didn't have much time to shop but I wanted you to know that I did think of you. I hope you like it."

He pushed a small box toward her. Joan hadn't had a present that she could remember for many years. Anticipation made a pleasant melody of the beating in her ears as she unwrapped the tissue and lifted the cover of the box.

Therein lay a small coil of sapphire and white gold. She lifted it and discovered it was a bracelet chain with links of sapphire and dangling from the clasp were the smallest charms in sapphire, spelling out her name, J-O-A-N.

"I love it," she said, "and I'll always wear it."

"You ought to have diamonds," he said. Then quickly amended, "No."

you aren't the diamond bracelet type at all. Gold is for you." He didn't elaborate.

The quiet peace was soon dispelled with Julian's return. Joan found that his telephone began ringing at nine in the morning and didn't cease until well after midnight. There were newspaper reporters, agents, managers, publishers, feature writers, charity-seekers, hostesses, actresses and a horde of less colorful people on his trail, anxious to "speak for a moment to Mr. Sloane." She hadn't guessed his importance or his demand until she came to New York.

There were six weeks' correspondence to be caught up with. There were unpaid bills to be attended to. There were the necessities of the coming season for Joan to look after. And always there were the hours of revision and typing and dictation and rewriting to demand her time. Which was as it should be, she assured herself.

Five times she had to tell Alex Garrity that she couldn't get away or she was too tired or she had to get up early in the morning. At the end of a day spent on the telephone, at her notes, taking dictation from Julian, she was sunk, too tired to think of anything but bath, a book and bed.

Not Julian. His animation, his energy, his reserve enthusiasm were something for her to marvel at. He was dining here tonight, there tomorrow night, seeing a first night, going on to a night club, bringing supper guests home.

That Sheila was usually part of these parties Joan knew but she never saw her. And when Julian gave these informal parties, Joan found it important for her to be elsewhere.

She had gone twice to see Betty, twice when Julian was having several people in for cocktails, because she felt that had she been at home he would have thought that he must include her, and she had seen learned that with the summer gone informality had ended.

She had had had grown dependent on her. There were always people at Betty's house—strangers. Joan liked strangers. Each new person's story was a new book unfolding before her eyes. Their lives were complex to her and attracted while they repelled. Joan wanted to learn the easy freedom of self-expression but she didn't want to relinquish her own ideas. Her "ideas" were the things that she had been born and bred to, the inherent qualities that are sometimes called morals but which in reality are the signals of good taste and balanced judgment.

She had had to cancel her first date with Donald Newberry. It was one of those frequent evenings when Julian demanded her time. Julian was not always fair or considerate of her; he didn't even tell her in advance that he wanted her time. But he did always ask her if she were busy that night. Joan never had the courage to tell him that she might have been.

When, at last, Donald called her again, it was one of those times when she was in the midst of work with Julian. "Tonight at seven-thirty," she said into the telephone with one eye in Julian's direction. "I'll be ready..." Julian hadn't the slightest intention of working that night but a frown crossed his brow immediately and Joan was quick to see it and be angered by it.

"Savoy Plaza suit you for a cocktail and a snack supper?" Joan agreed. She was glad that Donald hadn't suggested cocktails at his apartment.

They saw the new Gershwin musical that night and when they were in the taxi going east after the theater, Donald turned to ask Joan where she would like to go to dance at the present time. Joan tried unsuccessfully to stifle a yawn. "I'm not a bit bored," she said immediately. "In fact I'm not even tired but I've been cooped up writing all day, having no air and that always makes me heavy."

"If you're sure you're not sleepy, let's go somewhere and talk." He gave a Park avenue address to the driver.

Before Joan realized it, they had arrived at the door of a fashionable apartment house and Joan was being helped out.

"I haven't an etching in the place," Donald said, "but I do have some other things I think you'd like to see."

Joan called herself an idiot for not preventing or foreseeing the situation. She did not want to go to Donald Newberry's apartment. Not that she had any reason to distrust Donald but she was fair enough to know that if anything did happen that would be unwelcome, it would be her fault. "Nice girls," Joan assumed, did not go to a man's apartment alone with him. In time she was to find out that the convention was considerably changed, but her instincts were right.

"But, Donald!" Joan was simply astounded. "Is this where you live?"

They walked through a wide hall to a huge duplex living room. Rich Oriental rugs muffled their footsteps. Great sofas of silken damask faced each other before the wide hearth. Tapestry curtains were drawn over the window that was almost the whole width of the room. Golden lamps filtered soft rays on the oil paintings hung on the other walls. Bowls of long-stemmed flowers perfumed the room, mingling with the woody scent of the burning logs.

It was a room that absorbed one into its luxurious perfection. Its form and color was a flattering background. Joan sank into a corner of the lounge. Her spread skirts of chiffon made a splash of saffron yellow on the garnet silk.

She sighed very softly. "It's beautiful."

"So are you. You belong here." Donald tapped a cigarette against the mantel. "How would you like to live here?"

But, of course! Joan studied Donald's black and white perfection outlined slimly against the white of the hearthside.

Donald was the man she should fall in love with. It wouldn't be hard.

VERY "TOUCHING"

Two members of a club began to exchange confidences. "Do you know," said the young man, "my wife is absent on a pleasure cruise, and that she writes me from every port she touches?"

"You're lucky," replied the older man. "My wife is also on a pleasure cruise, but she touches me from every port she calls at."

CAN NORTH MAKE 4-SPADES?

SUCCESSFUL play of a difficult hand always is more interesting to most than a purely double-dummy problem hand. Today we have a hand which was actually dealt, also perfectly played by both North as declarer, and by the two defenders.

Bidding went: South, 1-No Trump; North, 2-Spades; East, 3-Hearts; South, 3-No Trumps; North, 4-Spades, very wisely; West doubled.

The opening lead was the K of clubs. Not wishing to establish dummy's Q of clubs, the Q of hearts was next led, and the trick won with dummy's K. See how you would play the hand from that point, against defenders' best play.

Lead the 9 of spades. West can

DIET AND HEALTH

Exhibit Shows Advances in Diabetes Treatment

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
AT THE American Medical Association, the diabetic school conducted by Dr. Elliot Joslin of Boston, was an indication of two things—first, that the medical profession believes in a widespread dissemination of knowledge of the modern treatment of diabetes. They believe that the public should know of the advances that have been made, and of the possibilities of relief of symptoms and control of the disease by present methods. They also believe that physicians should have special instruction from recognized experts in the field.

At this exhibit trays with special diabetic meals were put out to show the schemes of diet used at prominent institutions in Boston, New York, Rochester, Minnesota and other medical centers. Here was a tray with the actual food which a diabetic patient should eat under certain circumstances at one meal.

Laboratory Shows Tests
They also set up a laboratory, showing all the tests that should be made from time to time on a diabetic patient, and there was a laboratory technician present to demonstrate these to the visiting doctors, who were the scholars of this diabetic school.

Elks Entertain 'Grads'; 125 Couples at Dance

Memorial Hall Pretty With Decorations in Lodge Colors

Pickaway county graduates are extending a vote of thanks to the B. P. O. Elks No. 77 for the most enjoyable evening's entertainment Thursday.

The social and community welfare committee of the order sponsored a dance honoring the graduates of the county, their friends and sweethearts, and as usual spared no expense to make their guests happy.

The hall was decorated in the Elks colors, purple and white, with long streamers festooned from the ceiling to the stage. A similar trimming was used around the balcony. The stage where the orchestra was seated, represented a gateway, and shaded lights in purple topped the gate posts. A large glistening card was suspended above the entrance with greetings to the seniors and friends of the B. P. O. Elks.

One hundred and twenty five couples enjoyed dancing until a late hour to the strains of the George Boller Society orchestra. Their music elicited many favorable comments from the dancers. Vocal numbers by the soloists were particularly enjoyed.

The committee in charge of arrangements were Tom A. Renick, chairman; Bishop Given, Andrew Thomas, Gilbert Starkey, Paul D. Miller and Joseph W. Adkins, Jr. They were assisted by the following members of the house committee: Robert Young, Earl Smith, James Carpenter, and Wallace Crist.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

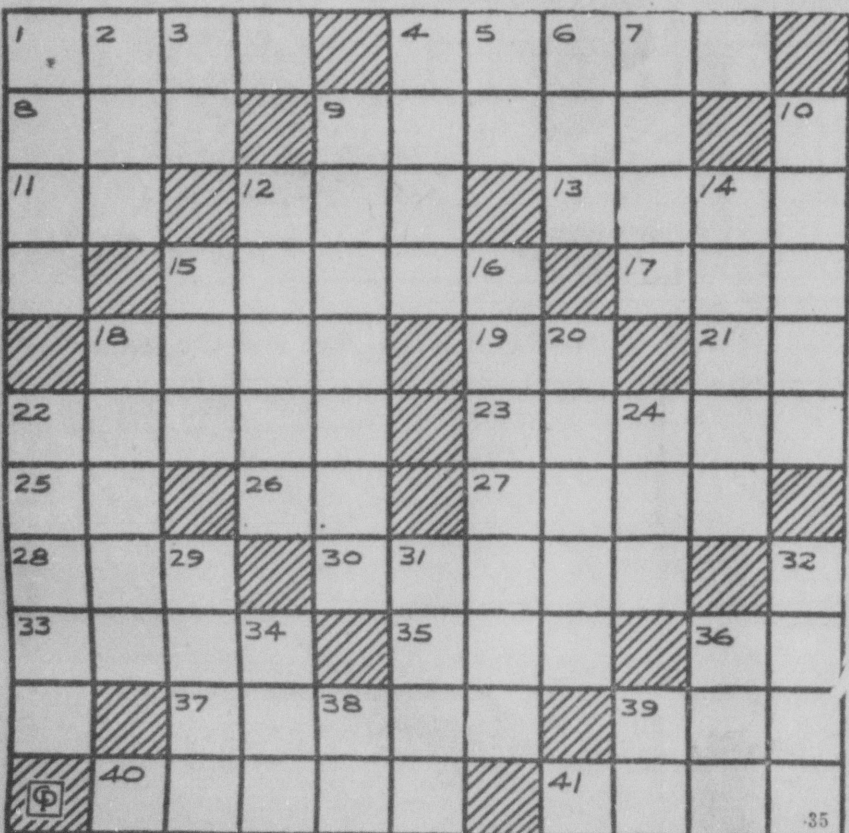

Sprightly Jack Oakie and charming Sally Eilers are well-timed in Paramount's "Florida Special," the new mystery-thriller-comedy which opens today at the Cliftona Theatre.

In this story of romance and intrigue, a heterogeneous lot of characters are thrown together on a speeding train, bound for the South, and the adventures they experience are alternately comic and hair-raising.

Jackie Oakie, as a star reporter, and Sally Eilers as a train hostess, give an excellent account of themselves in their exciting roles.

"The Virginian" starring Gary Cooper and Walter Huston is on the same program.

CINCINNATI OIL DROPPED TO TIE WITH EAGLE '9'

Cities Service Team Wipes Out Four Run Lead to Win 6 to 4

The Cities Service Oils came to life Thursday evening to knock the Cincinnati Oils out of their undisputed first place position in the softball league. The Cincinnati crew and the Eagles are now tied for the top rung.

Clarence Helvering's boys overcame a four run lead to vanquish the leaders. The Cincinnati Oils scored all their runs in the first inning on three infield errors and two hits. Then they were through. The only threat they made was in the eighth when Bill Hegele, pitcher, tried to win his own ball game with a triple. He "died" on third base.

The Cities Service gang tallied two in the second inning, three in the third and one in the fifth. Leonard Buskirk was in rare form for the winners. He gave hits and refused a charity stroll to first base. Hegele was not in his best form and was hit hard and often.

Tonight the Given Oils and Pickaway Dairy play.

Next week's schedule follows: Monday: Eshelman Feeds vs. Eagles.

Tuesday: Cities Service vs. Pickaway Dairy.

Wednesday: Given Oils vs. Eshelman Feeds.

Thursday: Cincinnati Oils vs. Pickaway Dairy.

Friday: Cities Service vs. Eagles.

OWENS AGAINST TROJANS IS CHICAGO BATTLE-CRY

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—(UP)—The far west, which carted off the National collegiate track and field meet to California for two straight years and won all the medals in its own backyard, raided the middle west today for another team title as the 15th annual championships opened at Stagg field in a tense Olympic atmosphere.

Southern California, three times a winner and twice runnerup, was a slight favorite to hold its crown. The miracle legs of Jesse Owens once more made Ohio State the chief challenger, with the final result hinging on the support his teammates give the Buckeye flyer.

BEST AMERICAN GOLFERS MEET IN WESTERN OPEN

DAVENPORT, Ia., June 19.—(UP)—Two hundred golfers, including most of America's ranking players, tied off in threesomes today for the first round of the 72-hole Western Open tournament at the Davenport Country club.

They assumed the appearance of a wrecking crew as far as the par 71 was concerned. Most everyone agreed that the winner would have to beat par for the $850 that goes with first place.

About This And That In Many Sports

Washington Defeated

The Washington C. H. golf team, which opposes the Pickaway Country club team next week, was defeated Wednesday by London on the Madison county course, 25½ to 28½. The match was interesting and close the whole way.

Washington C. H. has always been tough for the Pickaway crew—A number of local golfers are planning to follow Tod Thompson to Chillicothe Saturday afternoon to see the Hagen match—Thompson will be Hagen's partner against Joe Blanton and Bill Girard.

Another from Fire

The Red Birds pulled another from the fire last night—Beaten 4 to 3 as the last of the ninth started, they pounded over two runs to beat Indianapolis—Fawcett put the Indians ahead in the first half of the final frame with a homer—An infield error, a double by Jack Winsett, a walk to Cullip and Pitcher Nelson Potter's pinch hit to right scored the winning runs with one out.

Small Loops Help

THOUGH the Pacific Coast league has produced probably the year's outstanding rookie in Jose Di Maggio, of the Yankees, a survey of the crop reveals that the smaller minors are beating the big coast loop in point of mass production.

Likely youngsters have come up this year from the Southern and Texas leagues. Even the Class B Piedmont circuit has sent two stars up to the National league, Stuart Martin, who has replaced Frisch at second base for the Cardinals, and Les Scarsella, first baseman of the Reds.

Southern league commodities shown to advantage in big league markets are Jimmy Gleason, outfielder of the Indians; Buddy Lewis, flashy third baseman and Walter Millies, catcher for the Senators; Jim Henry, pitcher, and Skeets Dickey, catcher for the Red Sox; Harry Kelley, pitcher for the Athletics, and Johnny Lanning, young hurler for the Bees.

From the Texas league, which abounds in pitching talent, come Lee Grissom, southpaw of the Reds; Russ Evans of the White Sox; Earl Caldwell of the Browns; Red Phillips of the Tigers, and Max Butcher of the Dodgers. The Texas loop also kicks in with Lynn King, outfielder of the Cardinals.

Dozen from Association

The Coast league is not even keeping pace with the other AA leagues, the American Association and International league, in furnishing ivory for the majors. Besides Di Maggio, the only promising rookies from the Pacific loop are Gene Lillard of the Cubs and Joe Becker, third string catcher of the Indians. The Association has sent up a dozen men and the International almost as many. Stand-outs in the Association crop are Buddy Hassett, first baseman of the Dodgers; Brusie Odrovinski, Cards' catcher; Dennis Galehouse, Indians' pitcher; Monte Stratton, pitcher, and Mike Kreevich, out-fielder, of the White Sox, and Julie Giuliana, catcher for the Browns.

CUBS AND DODGERS VIE, SEEKING NEW RECORDS

NEW YORK, June 19.—(UP)—Chicago's National League champion Cubs moved into Brooklyn for a three-game series with the Dodgers today with both clubs in the market for new records.

The Cubs are in a winning streak which has reached 13 consecutive games, the longest in the majors since the Cubs put on their record 21-game burst last fall. The Dodgers, staid proponents of baseball in reverse, are headed just the other way.

'Heavy' Contest on Tonight's Schedule

NEW YORK, June 19.—(UP)—

The strange fistic extravaganza which headlines Joe Louis of Detroit—the man who can't lose—against Max Schmeling of Germany—the man who can't win—will take place tonight in Yankee stadium, weather permitting, after a 24-hour postponement because of rain.

The international heavyweight bout, scheduled for 15 rounds between the 22-year-old Negro who, they say, can't miss becoming champion, and the 30-year-old German who once held the title, is likely to go on tonight. The weather bureau promised fair weather and moderate temperature. If a second postponement should be necessary, the bout will be held Saturday afternoon in opposition to a crucial ball game across the Harlem river between the New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals.

If Promoter Mike Jacobs, who is becoming as touchy as a hen guarding her flock, because of the many difficulties he has encountered in this promotion, does not get the fight on tonight, the sports writers may ridicule it right out of Yankee stadium. To the journalistic profession the fight has become a "legal execution."

A liberal forecast places the probable attendance at 70,000 and the gross gate at $750,000. Louis and Schmeling each will receive 30 per cent of the net gate, which is likely to be about $600,000, or nearly $200,000 each.

With the weighing-in ceremony and physical examinations accomplished yesterday at the Hippodrome theatre, recently leased by Jacobs for indoor fights, the two fighters will not face each other again until they meet in the ring tonight at 9 p. m. (EST). Louis scaled 198, Schmeling 192. The Brown Bomber's weight was a surprise, but he is likely to come in tonight weighing about 202. Trainer Jack Blackburn estimated he would pick up at least four pounds because of the postponement.

Louis weighed 199½ for Max Baer, 196½ for Charley Retzlaff, 200½ for Paulino Uzcudun, and 198½ for King Levinsky. Blackburn said he has purposely dried him out to bring him in under 200.

Despite Schmeling's failure to crack in the presence of Louis at yesterday's weighing-in the Brown Bomber remained a 10-1 betting favorite to win and a 3-1 favorite to score a K. O. Even money was quoted that the German don't come up for the eighth round. With no Schmeling money in sight, the fight probably will set an all time low for betting on a major bout.

YESTERDAY'S HERO: Bob Smith, 38-year-old veteran of the Boston Bees' mound staff, who held the league leading St. Louis Cardinals to two hits.

CLUBS IN EASTERN HALF OF ASSOCIATION STRONG

COLUMBUS, June 19.—(UP)—Clubs in the eastern half of the American Association today held a wide advantage over their high-ranked western foes upon completion of the second inter-sectional series of the season.

Playing at home, the eastern clubs won 40 games and lost 25. On the first trip east, Western clubs had the edge, winning 32 games and losing 16.

Indianapolis and Columbus had the best records against the western opponents. Indianapolis won 13 games and lost four, while Columbus gained 11 triumphs and lost five contests. Louisville won eight games and lost seven, while Toledo won eight and dropped nine.

None of the western clubs played .500 per cent ball during the invasion. The first place Milwaukee club had the best record with eight triumphs in 17 starts. Minneapolis won seven and lost 10; St. Paul took six decisions and lost nine, while Kansas City triumphed but five times in 17 starts.

Elmer Wolf and Monroe Valentine narrowly escaped drowning at the Darby creek ford near the waterworks.

The men crossed the ford on Jan. 22, 1914 to attend a sale. They learned it had been postponed and when recrossing the stream the horse stepped off the roadway into deep water. Both men jumped from the buggy. The horse tore loose from the buggy and swam to shore. Mr. Valentine managed to swim out of the icy water and rescued Mr. Wolf who was clinging to a rock ledge. They were given dry clothes at the home of D. H. Niles.

PICKAWAY COUNTY FARMERS START TO CUT WHEAT

BAKER REPORTS SIX-ACRE TRACT LIGHT AND DRY

Pasture Presenting Serious Problem; Milk Shortage is Possibility

First reports of wheat cutting reached Circleville Friday.

Nelson Baker, Jackson township farmer, reported he finished cutting a six-acre field of wheat Thursday afternoon and had opened up a larger field.

Marvin Steeley, Washington township, expected to start cutting Friday afternoon. Next week the harvest would be in full swing.

Baker reported the small field he finished cutting would thresh out very light. He said the wheat seemed to be dried out rather than properly filled and ripened. The straw was short.

Farmers from various districts report the crop this year will be about average.

One of the most serious problems confronting dairy farmers at the present time is pasture.

Abnormal rains are needed to provide good pasture, Reed Shafer, manager of the Pickaway Dairy Association, announced Friday morning.

Mr. Shafer said continued dry weather might cause a serious milk shortage.

HOUSE DEFEATS LARGE COUNTIES IN RELIEF VOTE

bill before it was passed was the adoption of an amendment increasing the basis for allocating funds to rural counties from the $8 a month per relief case proposed in the measure to $9 a month.

No change was made in the original figure of $10 a month per relief case for semi-rural counties nor the $12 a month figure for urban counties, the latter classification including all counties with more than 200,000 population.

The increase for rural counties was proposed by Rep. William J. McGraw, (D.), Belmont county, and, with the support of representatives from metropolitan counties, was approved by an overwhelming majority, without record vote.

An effort to increase the allocation basis for the other counties was immediately blocked when a motion to close debate, proposed by Rep. R. J. Kiefer (R.), Logan county was adopted with approval from the rural bloc.

Relief officials from the large counties said the $12 a month maximum would provide only "cooling fare" for relief clients and would provide nothing for clothing, shelter, medicine and other necessities.

Increase Refused

Previous to this action, the house had voted down, 35-71, an amendment proposed by Rep. John T. Derigter (D), Cuyahoga, to increase the appropriation from $6,500,000 to $8,500,000.

MILL FIRM PAYS $280

Rather than go through a long and expensive court fight concerning a technicality in the grain inspection law, the J. W. Eschelman and Sons Milling Co. has pleaded guilty to 28 counts of shipping wheat and corn without government inspection and has paid fines totalling $280. Hearing was conducted Thursday in Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood's court.

POLICE PROBE STRANGE CASE

Mother and Two Children Found Strangled

PITTSBURGH, June 19.—(UP)—A murder theory, unsubstantiated by either motive or evidence to show how the victims were approached, baffled authorities in their investigation today of deaths of Mrs. Martin J. Feely and her two children.

Bodies of the children, Robert, 5, and Janice, 3, were found in beds in a playroom late last night. The mother lay face downward on the living room floor. All had been strangled. Mrs. Feely had received two wounds in the temple from an ice pick, which was found on the floor nearby. The children also had stab wounds in the head.

John Artz, coroner's investigator, said suicide of the mother was a physical impossibility, considering the method of strangulation, the two temple wounds, and the position of the body.

Before the prisoners had been jammed into the jail's six inadequate cells, bricks and stones were pelting the walls. The crowd outside booed and screamed. mood gradually and when word was passed about that the strike breakers had been charged formally with shooting with intent to wound, the crowd began dispersing. Early today the last of the crowd melted away.

Burr announced that as soon as peace was assured he would take his prisoners to Ravenna, but he canceled the plan in fear that it might cause a new disturbance.

The strike breakers were ordered arraigned at 10 a. m. on charges preferred by leaders of the Machanists Union that closed the Black and Decker plant with a strike on May 3.

Strikers said the strike breakers

precipitated the riot by firing shotguns and tear gas into a picket line yesterday morning.

Coughlin Talk Awaited

DETROIT PRIEST TO NAME CHOICE FOR PRESIDENCY

Lemke Seen as Likely Man Since Ely Says He is Not Interested

RADIO TALK SCHEDULED

Radical Organizations to Form Third Party According to Reports

NEW YORK, June 19.—(UP)—The launching of a third party intended to attract the support of Father Charles E. Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice, the Townsend Old Age Pensions group, and various inflationary factions, was anticipated in political circles today.

Chief prophet of a new entry in the 1936 presidential sweepstakes was Coughlin, who told the United Press last night that he expected the announcement of a candidacy for president on a third party ticket some time today in either New York, Boston or Washington. Coughlin was working on a radio speech he will deliver tonight (at 9:45 p. m. EST) which will contain an endorsement of the candidate, provided he announces in time and his platform is what Coughlin expects it to be.

From Dr. Francis E. Townsend, head of the Old Age Pension plan, came contradictory statements that still, in essence, tended to confirm a prospective amalgamation of Coughlin-Townsend-Share-the-Wealth forces behind a presidential candidate other than President Roosevelt or Gov. Alf M. Landon.

Lemke Probable

Speculation as to the identity of the prospective candidate was rife as the hour for the predicted announcement approached. It centered mainly on two men—Rep. William Lemke, R., N. D., co-author of the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage bill which has had Coughlin's impassioned support, and former Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts a critic of the New Deal.

From his home in Westfield, Mass., Ely denied flatly that he was the forthcoming candidate or that he knew anything about plans for a third party.

Lemke was less forthright. He said he would support any third party movement that would support his inflationary farm mortgage bill.

HEALEY BILL VOTED

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(UP)—The house passed today the Healey bill, restricting government contracts to firms paying prevailing wages and maintaining a 40-hour work week.

Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Farley Have Different Beliefs

Republican Leader Says Landon to Take 42 States, and Roosevelt's Aide Comes Back With Claim for 48; Lehman May Reverse His Decision

NEW YORK, June 19.—(UP)—Republican National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton and Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley staked out claims for Gov. Alf M. Landon and President Roosevelt today.

Hamilton claimed 42 states for Gov. Landon; Farley named 48 for Mr. Roosevelt. Hamilton said President Roosevelt will lose even New York, his home state, Farley said it was in the bag.

Temporarily ignoring Farley's challenge to go another round by naming the states Governor Landon will win, Hamilton revoted his

Bonus Baby Balks

THE youngest man eligible for the soldier's bonus, Frank Sauliere, 31, of Boston, isn't going to collect it. He enlisted at the age of 12 years, 7 months in the 18th U. S. Engineers and served through the war. His belief is that the bonus money might better have gone to disabled veterans, and widows and orphans of soldiers.

time to trying out on New York party workers the hand-shaking type of leadership that made him the national G. O. P. boss.

He spent hours on a telephone calling party workers down to the rank of ward committeemen, just to say "hello," he talked personally with several dozen state leaders.

Tonight he is going to the Louis-Schmeling fight, if rain does not interfere as it did last night, and Monday he will speak to 2,000 party workers. The address will be broadcast nationally.

He said that Frank Knox, G. O. P. vice presidential candidate, probably will precede Gov. Landon into the eastern coast campaign. Knox may come to New York, he said, as soon as he completes a three-week rest. He didn't know when Governor Landon's campaign itinerary would be completed.

"As for me," he said, "I'm going to speak here Monday and in Columbus July 1, and I hope there will be no more speeches from me. I intend to get around the country, but not to speak."

His claim to New York state for Governor Landon arose in discussion of reports that Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York may reverse a decision not to run for reelection this fall. President Roosevelt would like him to run, for he is one of the best vote-getters New York Democrats ever had.

HOUSE DEFEATS LARGE COUNTIES IN RELIEF VOTE

Scale of Payment for Ohio Needy Fixed By 94 to 17 Ballot

ALLOTMENTS REDUCED

Families in Rural Areas to Receive $8 a Month Result of Action

Clark Hunsicker, Pickaway county representative, voted for the relief measure, which was hard-fought by the larger counties of Ohio.

COLUMBUS, June 19.—(UP)—Over-riding objections of metropolitan counties, the House of Representatives today had approved a poor relief bill drastically curtailing the amount of relief funds that will be available for the large centers of population during the last half of this year.

The bill passed the house late yesterday, carrying an appropriation of $6,500,000 for the six-month period, and goes to the senate for consideration. The senate is to reconvene next Monday night.

Few Changes Made

The house approved the relief bill, 94 to 17, as an emergency measure, without making any of the major changes that had been sought by spokesmen for Cuyahoga and other large counties of the state, and then recessed subject to recall by Speaker Bittling-er. It was explained by house leaders that the members will be called back in session after the senate has acted on the relief bill, but in all probability not before the week of June 29 and possibly later.

The only change in the relief bill was to increase the amount of the relief fund to $6,500,000.

DR. BEALE DRIVES HIS CAR THROUGH CONCRETE RAILS

Dr. C. C. Beale, Mt. Sterling, former Pickaway county health commissioner, escaped with bruises early Friday when his car crashed through the concrete guard posts on Route 22, west of the river bridge, and went over an embankment into the lowlands. The accident occurred about 7 a. m.

Fred Tipton, Williamsport, deputy auditor, was the first person to investigate the mishap. He found the doctor lying beside the car and believed he was seriously injured. Tipton drove to Circleville and notified Sheriff Charles Rad-cliff.

Before the sheriff arrived at the scene of the accident R. G. Peters, N. Court street, had taken Dr. Beale to the home of E. W. Lutz, E. Main street. The doctor was returned to his home Friday morning.

The car was not badly damaged and did not overturn in going down the embankment. The mishap occurred at the first curve west of the bridge.

PASTOR CITES VALUE OF ROTARY IN WORLD

The value of Rotary, in its international scope, to create a better feeling among nations was stressed in an address to Circleville and Washington C. H. Rotary clubs at the Pickaway Country club Thursday evening by Rev. A. K. Wilson of Washington C. H.

2 IMPORTANT MEASURES PUT IN "MUST" BASKET

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(UP)—Two far reaching measures—one preventing importation of strike breakers from one state to another, the other placing first, second and third class postmasters under civil service, were placed on the House "must" calendar by Speaker William B. Bankhead today.

Bankhead said the bills will be called up today under suspension of the rules.

DEMOCRATS TO CONFER

Leaders of the Pickaway county Democratic executive committee, central committee and county club will meet this evening in party headquarters to draft plans for a big rally to be the same night that President Roosevelt accepts his party's nomination for another term.

Battle Between Company Guards and Pickets

FOLLOWING a pitched battle between company guards and pickets at the Black & Decker plant, Kent, Ohio, in which six men were shot and a score of others were gassed and wounded, pickets are seen resting behind an embankment. Inset is of Alvin Gray, picket, who was injured. Workers at nearby plants also stopped operations to join the picket line. The battle began when guards brought in strike-breakers. William Crayford, president of the Machinists' union, which called the strike seven weeks ago, announced he would swear out riot incitement warrants for men in the plant.

40 Strike Breakers in Kent Jail Face Court for Inciting Riot, Injuring 14

KENT, June 19.—(UP)—Deputy sheriffs and policemen drove the last of a mob of 5,000 from streets around the city jail today but, abandoned plans to move 40 strike breakers, objects of the mob's wrath, to a stronger jail at Ravenna.

Policemen, deputies and national guard officers rescued the 40 prisoners last night from the Black and Decker Tool Co. plant, where strikers and sympathizers recruited from as far distant as Akron had fired on them with revolvers, shotguns, and rifles for 12 hours.

Fourteen men were wounded by gunfire or gassed in the fight. Two strike breakers, reelected from the factory in midafternoon, were in critical condition.

Chaos in Streets

Although mob leaders had agreed to the removal, the sight of the strike breakers rolling out of a plant gate in a truck provoked the strikers to uncontrollable fury.

Boos, catcalls and threats rose from the mob, stretching black and menacing all about a cleared lane, and swelled in a moment into a roar. A few stones pelted the truck in which the strike breakers cowered, but before the crowd's anger turned into action the truck jerked out of the gate and roared down the mob-lined street to the jail.

The mob broke into pursuit, but under the urging of its leaders settled into a parade more awing than anything ever seen before in this little college town, the home of Gov. Martin L. Davey and more notable for its neat, small homes, shady streets, and flower gardens than for its industries.

ROYSER CHASES COW, LOSES CAR, STRAW IN FIRE

Chasing "bossie" to the barn with an automobile was successful Thursday evening for T. J. Royster, Maplewood avenue, until the cow took him for a detour around a straw stack.

Royster parked the car near the stack and left the engine running. Then he started chasing "bossie" on foot. When he returned to the car, he found the straw beneath it on fire, probably started by a backfire. Royster said the more he fought the straw fire the faster it gained headway.

The car, a Studebaker coupe, and the straw stack were destroyed. Damage was estimated at $100. Firemen went to the scene but the tank on the truck did not hold sufficient water to put out the blaze.

Royster is employed by J. W. Callahan, tenant on the Smith farm. The car belonged to Callahan. The straw and car burned in a field just west of the C. & O. railroad about 7 p. m.

Losses on Stock Market Extend as Low as Two Points; Steels Drop

CHICAGO, June 19.—(UP)—Wheat prices skyrocketed today on the nation's leading grain exchanges as the northwest drought went unbroken and the department of agriculture issued a special crop report stating that "prospects for spring grains declined in the first half of June."

Minneapolis and Duluth markets, which are quickest to reflect the condition of spring wheat, lead other markets upward with gains of more than 4 cents a bushel. July wheat at Minneapolis sold at $1.06 a bushel, up 4 cents from yesterday. Duluth July was quoted at 97 1/2 cents, up 4 cents a bushel.

Higher in Chicago

Wheat prices on the Chicago board of trade were 3 1/2 cents to 3 cents higher within a few minutes after the release of the government report.

The boom in wheat was the second of the week. Minneapolis and Duluth markets soared the full 5 cent limit permitted in a single day's trading Monday.

The department of agriculture report substantiated the pessimistic reports from private grain statisticians earlier in the week, and wheat traders were easily stampeded into a heavy buying movement.

Two and a half months of drought have killed millions of bushels of spring wheat and many farmers in the Dakotas are ready to abandon their fields, according to dispatches from the northwest.

NEW YORK, June 19.—(UP)—Stocks turned irregularly lower today in light trading. Losses extended to 2 points.

Allied Chemical and American Telephone lost two points and declines of a point or more were noted in Bethlehem Steel, Mack Trucks and Westinghouse Electric. Steel shares generally were lower. Utilities and rails lost small amounts.

CONSTIPATION* MAY BE MORE SERIOUS THAN YOU THINK

It Causes Discomfort, May Even Lead to Disease

Constipation* is not a condition to be treated lightly. Continued neglect of regular habits of elimination tend to lower your resistance. Then there is the actual discomfort. For constipation* is one cause of headaches, poor appetite, listlessness.

Common constipation usually develops when you eat meals that lack sufficient "bulk." Your system fails to get needed internal exercise. Fortunately, today, you have a generous source of effective "bulk" in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Within the body, the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass, which gently cleanses the system. This natural laxative food also supplies vitamin B and contains iron.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal, with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, breads, etc. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Stubborn cases may require ALL-BRAN often. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed by the Kellogg Company as an effective laxative food for constipation.* Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

GOOCH HANGED AS KIDNAPER OF TWO OFFICERS

Lindbergh Law Takes First Victim; Plea to President Fails

STATE PRISON, MCALISTER, Okla., June 19.—(UP)—Arthur Gooch, 27, who kidnapped two Texas officers and released them unharmed after carrying them in to Oklahoma, was hanged today, first person to die for violation of the Lindbergh law.

Gooch dropped through the trap at 5:07 a. m., and was declared dead about 15 minutes later. Until the last he hoped for executive clemency.

Escaping Arrest

Gooch was convicted of kidnapping R. N. Baker and H. P. Marks in Paris, Tex., in order to escape arrest. The men were released at Snow, Okla., unharmed except for a cut Baker suffered when he fell against a plate glass in a scuffle with Gooch and Ambrose Nix, who was slain by officers at Okemah when Gooch was captured.

Gooch showed no emotion as he mounted the steps of the 18-foot gallows. He told U. S. Deputy Marshall George Hall he had no statement to make.

Doctors waited several minutes after examining the body before they pronounced Gooch officially dead.

A crowd of approximately 300, including prison and state officials, watched him die. Rich Owen, prison executioner, who has sent 58 men to death, tripped the drop.

Gooch's final hope for clemency did not fail until last night when President Roosevelt denied an appeal for a pardon.

NEW DEVICE IS USED IN CREAM WHIPPING

Cream whipping has acquired a scientific finesse in a new device known as the "Instantwhip" being distributed by Dwight Steele, E. Franklin street.

Instead of the process of whipping air bubbles into cream by hand the work is done under pressure in a special metal container. Whipped cream is obtained at an instant's notice and no failures are possible. For a small charge above the cost of one-half pint of cream for hand whipping the customer gains at least three times as large a volume of whipped cream with the new device.

The new process uses an all-metal container which is the exact counterpart of the familiar soda siphon bottle. In the sterilized container is placed one-half pint of 35 per cent butterfat cream. A connection is made between a valve on top of the container and a tank of nitrous oxide gas. Gas at 75 pounds pressure per square inch is passed into the bottle.

A cap is placed over the valve top and in this form the metal bottle and contents are supplied the consumer to be placed in the ice box until ready for use. The consumer is furnished a dispensing nozzle and when whipped cream is desired the valve cap is removed and the nozzle, screwed in place.

When the pressure is released the gas dissolved in the cream expands and whips the cream instantly.

POWER SERVICE TO LOAN MONEY

Three Counties in REA Obtain $30,000 to Lend

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(UP)—The Rural Electrification Administration today made it possible for Ohio farmers, living along co-operative electric power lines, to install full wiring facilities with federal funds.

The administration announced that it had approved a loan of $30,000 to the Pioneer Rural Electric Co-operative Inc., Columbus, which in turn will re-loan the money to farmers along REA approved lines in Miami, Shelby and Champaign counties.

Terms of the loans to be made for wiring and other installation costs include re-payment within five years and three per cent interest on unpaid balances.

The loans contemplate 80 per cent of the actual wiring costs on each homestead. They may be repaid semi-annually, the due dates falling during those periods of the year when farm incomes are the highest.

Morris L. Cooke, REA administrator, said that this was the first venture into this type of electrification activity. He said that the wiring contracts would be let on a "mass basis." He believes that a great saving will result which will be passed on to the farmers using the electric service.

LUTHERAN MEN ENJOY MEETING; REV. KOCH TALKS

The June session of Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood was held Thursday evening in the parish house.

After the business session, Rev. G. L. Troutman gave a report on the Bible School that is being financed by the Brotherhood. Among other interesting things in the report were: enrollment 146 with an average attendance to this date of 136; all teachers in charge are normal graduates and are eligible to teach in the public schools.

On the Sunday following the closing of the school the regular morning service will be in charge of the school and on the same Sunday evening the school will give several Biblical plays in the parish house, to which the public is invited.

This is the tenth successive year for the bible school and much credit is due Rev. Troutman and his corps of well qualified teachers.

The guests Thursday evening were Rev. H. E. Koch and his brotherhood of St. John's congregation of Columbus.

Rev. Koch gave an interesting address on "Making Religion Our Business and Not Fooling Ourselves."

The balance of the entertainment period was taken up with an "Intellectual Base Ball Game," with Carl C. Leist in charge.

Rev. Koch captained one team and Rev. Troutman the other. The game proved intensely interesting, with Rev. Koch's team scoring 11 runs to 10 for Troutman's team.

The lunch committee, with D. E. Martin as chairman, served a fine lunch of combination bacon-egg-tomato-lettuce sandwiches, lady fingers, ice cream and coffee.

The July session will be a Brotherhood family basket picnic, with Luther Bower in charge of general arrangements and Gladden Troutman as assistant. John W. Walters will head the eats committee.

The meeting is dated for July 16 and the place will be announced later.

Holland to Join "Boys' State" Saturday

Harold Albert "Pete" Holland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Holland, 951 S. Pickaway street, will go to Columbus Saturday to take part in the 10-day Buckeye boys' state, sponsored by the American Legion in the interest of better citizenship. The program will be conducted at the Ohio State fairgrounds.

Holland, a high school graduate this year, was selected by a committee to represent Howard Hall post. Three youths were nominated for the honor.

Youths selected by American Legion posts throughout the state will convene at the fairgrounds to establish a model state, county and city governments.

The boys will have cities and counties, and elect their own city councils and their own county commissioners, judges, mayors, clerks, treasurers. They will elect their own state legislature, their governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general. In short, they will set up an exact miniature counterpart of the state of Ohio with all its political subdivisions and operate it themselves.

The legion is being assisted by city, county and state officials and by civic organizations.

The boys are being selected from all over Ohio for participation in the experiment on the basis of courage, honor, service and leadership. The camp is financed by contributions of $12.50 for each boy by legion posts and assisting civic bodies.

The cattle barn on the fairgrounds is being converted into a barracks to accommodate the boys.

As the boys arrive each will be assigned to either the white or blue party. Assignments will be made alternately so that boys from the same community will not be thrown together.

Government positions will be in the state, county, and local governments in Ohio. Representation in the state legislature will be apportioned on a population basis, except that each city will be assigned a seat in order to make the representation wide enough in the camp.

Various city and state officials will appear before the boys to explain various governmental problems.

MARRIAGE IS ANNULLED 3 YEARS AFTER DEATH

COLUMBUS, June 19.—(UP)—The marriage of Mrs. Grace Higgins, Columbus, to Lorraine Higgins, Chillicothe, was annulled today — more than three years after the woman's death.

The annulment, asked by Emerson L. Taylor, administrator of Mrs. Higgins' estate on the grounds of mental incompetency, was approved by Domestic Relations Judge Clayton W. Rose. The couple were married in Chillicothe, Sept. 10, 1932. Mrs. Higgins died April 29, 1933, several months after Taylor was appointed her guardian. The suit was revived in the name of her estate, estimated at more than $20,000.

The only complete low-priced car

MORE than 800,000 new 1936 Chevrolets have been built and sold—more than four-fifths of a million since announcement day—the largest volume of business that Chevrolet has enjoyed in any comparable period in its entire history.

Record-breaking sales always indicate record-breaking value, and that is why we are printing these figures. They are important, not because they establish a record, but because they carry the following message to all people who have yet to buy their 1936 cars.

America is choosing Chevrolet because America is convinced that Chevrolet represents the most motor car for the least money.

"The most motor car," because it's the only low-priced car with such vitally important features as New Perfected Hydraulic Brakes and Solid Steel one-piece Turret Top for greatest safety; Improved Gliding Knee-Action Ride, Shockproof Steering, and Genuine Fisher No Draft Ventilation for greatest comfort; and a powerful High-Compression Valve-in-Head Engine for the most efficient all-round performance.

And "the least money," because Chevrolet's low purchase price, low operating costs and low maintenance costs make it the most economical of all cars to own.

America is saying these splendid things about Chevrolet with actual buying orders! Follow America's judgment. Place your order for a new 1936 Chevrolet—the only complete low-priced car!

OPEN LETTERS

TO WPA OFFICIALS

FRIENDS: The progress you have made on the Court street repaving project is commendable. Many difficulties have befallen you; the weather has forced a delay in your operations; a shipment of bricks failed to arrive, but you have completed your program ahead of schedule, and with less money than was appropriated for the work. Your efforts are appreciated by every Circleville person, and by scores of travelers. Court street has always been dangerous with the street car tracks a menace ever since they were installed. Fatalities have been listed in Circleville's record book, blamed entirely on the slippery rails. Another angle to the repaving work is that now a traveler can enter Circleville from either end of the city and be afforded comfortable driving to the other end.

CIRCUITEER

TO COUNCILMEN, MAYOR

MEN: Your refusal to revise the old city ordinance concerning sale of fireworks in Circleville has placed a group of merchants "on the spot." They have their merchandise ordered and are threatened with arrest if they offer it for sale within the city limits. Before the Fourth numerous stands will be erected on all main roads at the edge of town. In all fairness to these dealers the police department should permit them to sell fireworks complying with state regulations. If the old ordinance is to be enforced in the future dealers should be warned in ample time so they do not place orders for this merchandise.

CIRCUITEER

TO W. M. REID

DEAR SIR: Your recent article in The Herald on the life of the Indian Princess Non-hel-e-ma, also spelled Non-Hele-ma, was very interesting. I hope the state approves this name for the new park along the canal.

CIRCUITEER

TO CIRCLEVILLE MERCHANTS

GENTLEMEN: For many years you have been interested in organizing a retailers' association, and working out methods of keeping Circleville business in Circleville. This week you heard reports about what associations of this type have accomplished in other cities. In addition you listened to an outstanding address by an authority on retail merchandising, salesmanship and business principles. His message was of practical value to every merchant, clerk and salesman in this city. Men representing 17 of Circleville's most progressive firms attended that meeting. They apologized for the small crowd and considered asking the speaker to return at a later date so more merchants could hear his message. Why should a group of progressive merchants have to work up interest in matters that will benefit all business

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an

Antiquated Reporter:

Up, betimes, and to the post where did meet Hulse Hays, master of the stamps, much busied these days expediting the payment of America's war debt to the soldiers. Hulse has done a fine job and deserves a full-sized bond from every veteran.

Back along the pave to greet George Forster, who beats us on the job every morning no matter how early the rising. A third of a century with the gas company and still as interested in his job as in the very beginning. There's a fine example of business for any ambitious youngster.

At the plant an explanation of the proposed new electric schedule and despite all the detail and logic, and there is logic, I fail yet to understand why the merchant must pay more for the current used in his store than in his home. More light, much more light, is needed at night in the business district. This is not a cross-road hamlet, but a city of real promise. However, one unfamiliar with the district might encounter difficulty finding it after sundown. A major problem for the city fathers.

Keeping my eyes on the Realtor Boys, what with all craftsmen of the building trades employed, contractors, frantically, architects again in flower, and building supply dealers receiving and delivering as in ye olden days. During the days of the late and unlamented depression building craftsmen drifted into other endeavors or out of the community. Building was insufficient to permit training of new workers. Now the shortage, and if you doubt the statement just attempt to obtain the services of a painter, plumber, electrician or builder of any sort on short notice. It can't be done.

What has become of H. E. Betz and his brave band of fishermen off in the wilds of upper Michigan? Not a word from them despite solemn promises of frequent and more or less truthful reports on the size of the catch. Can it be in this city. Merchants who failed to attend that meeting should not have to be coaxed to show an interest in the retailers association. It was decided to hold a meeting in the near future, for the benefit of those who were absent, to establish a small fee, name officers and complete arrangements for the organization. Merchants when the date is announced, mark it on your calendar and attend.

CIRCUITEER

TO LIVESTOCK CO-OPERATIVE

MERCHANTS: It was pleasing news to every person in Circleville and Pickaway county to learn that your business increased seven per cent in May as compared with May of 1935. The increase can be attributed to several causes. Farmers are producing livestock with increasing confidence, knowing the market will provide them a fair return for their expense. The fair manner in which your service has dealt with all the farmers of the district is another factor responsible, in a large way, for your success. It is hoped business in May, 1937 will be seven per cent better than that of this year.

CIRCUITEER

TO EX-SERVICE MEN

VETERANS: I am pleased to observe the manner in which many of you are handling your bonus bonds and checks. Only a few have spent their money foolishly. Most of you are having enough bonds cashed to provide necessities you have long gone without, to pay back bills and for other proper things. Several of you are fortunate enough, and far-thinking enough, to put your bonds away to obtain the interest that is available. Several others are keeping the bonds to provide higher education for their children. It is as true in this instance as in any other, there are always some persons who do not know and never will know the value of money, but most of you who went overseas and saw action for your country know how to care for what the government has given you.

CIRCUITEER

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

DEAR FOLK: There are no thieves lower than those who steal flower baskets and vases from cemetery lots. Residents place floral displays on the graves of their loved ones and when they return find the flowers thrown away and the containers missing. It is impossible for the superintendent to watch every car that enters and leaves the cemetery. Thefts of this type are difficult to uncover. I hope cemetery officials are successful in catching one of these thieves and establish a case that will be an example to those who are interested in other peoples' property.

CIRCUITEER

TO COUNTY FARMERS

MEN OF SOIL: You have been very courageous in the face of weather conditions this summer, and I am sure you will be repaid. The outlook for prices of your various crops is good. Lack of rain has cost you much money, it is certain, but you have gone right on, tilling your soil and hoping that Jupiter Pluvius, the man responsible, favors you and your neighbors with enough moisture to produce your season's goods.

CIRCUITEER

TO ROUNDTOWNERS

FRIENDS: Congratulations to you for the numerous improvements you are making on your homes this spring. In making a trip around the city I found workmen busy on every street. Dozens are employed renovating and constructing homes. Circleville is in the midst of a building and improvement boom.

Lady, Be Gallant

By MARIE BLIZARD

COPYRIGHT, RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

Joan Spencer, a small town school teacher, recently disappointed in love, is engaged as secretary to Julian Sloane, noted writer. After a delightful summer at Sloane's luxurious home, she is awaiting his return from Europe at his own house. The only district in which she is jealous of his new secretary. Sheila also is anticipating Julian's arrival and has her own reception planned for him much to Joan's disappointment. Dining alone in Greenwich Village, Joan meets Donald Newberry whom she has seen in years. They both drop in at Betty Robinson's, an old school chum of Joan's. Joan spends the night at the Robinsons. Joan returns to Sloane's next morning to find Julian anxiously awaiting her. (NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 23

"I'M SORRY," she said penitently, looking into Julian's face. "I've told you that I've planned to dine alone with her upon his return. It occurred to me that you would have time to even think of me. I had dinner and spent the night with an old school friend." It was almost completely the truth.

"Then it was my fault. We'll have to forget that you have a life all your own. It was selfish of me," Joan gloved hearing those words.

Later, in the library, she helped him to unpack his papers and listened—thrilled—to all that he had to tell her about London. Gilbert Haggard had sketched the outline of the play. The work of adapting it lay before them. Julian, in his excitement, seemed younger to her than when he had gone away.

"It will mean hard work," he said, "and practically no private life. When I start a play everything else goes out of my mind and I work at odd hours. However, I don't suppose that you have any lien on your time. Have you?"

Joan said that she didn't. She might have said that Alex Garrity was going to claim much of it. She might have said that she had a date the next week with Donald Newberry but she didn't. Dates never seemed important when she was with him.

"About the present," he said at last. "I was terribly busy, Joan, and didn't have much time to shop but I wanted you to know that I did think of you. I hope you like it."

He pushed a small box toward her. Joan hadn't had a present that she could remember for many years. Anticipation made a pleasant melody of the beating in her ears as she unwrapped the tissue and lifted the cover of the box.

Therein lay a small coil of sapphire and white gold. She lifted it and discovered it was a bracelet chain with links of sapphire and dangling from the clasp were the smallest charms in sapphires, spelling out her name, J-o-a-n.

"I love it," she said, "and I'll always wear it."

"You ought to have diamonds," he said. Then quickly amended, "No."

"Tonight at seven-thirty," she said

you aren't the diamond bracelet type at all. Gold is for you." He didn't elaborate.

The quiet peace was soon dispelled with Julian's return. Joan found that his telephone began ringing at nine in the morning and didn't cease until well after midnight. There were newspaper reporters, agents, managers, publishers, feature writers, charity-seekers, hostesses, actresses and a horde of less colorful people on his trail, anxious to "speak for a moment to Mr. Sloane." She hadn't guessed his importance or his demand until she came to New York.

There was six weeks' correspondence to be caught up with. There were unpaid bills to be attended to. There were the necessities of the coming season for Joan to look after. And always there were the hours of revision and typing and dictation and rewriting to demand her time. Which was as it should be, she assured herself.

Five times she had to tell Alex Garrity that she couldn't get away or she was too tired or she had to get up early in the morning.

At the end of a day spent on the telephone, at her notes, taking dictation from Julian, she was sunk, too tired to think of anything but bath, a book and bed.

But Julian, his animation, his energy, his reserve enthusiasm were something for her to marvel at. He was dining here tonight, there tomorrow night, seeing a first night, going on to a night club, bringing supper guests to a party.

She had gone twice to see Betty Robinson. She had been having several people in for cocktails, because she felt that had been at home he would have thought that he must include her, and she had soon learned that with the summer gone informality had ended.

She had been told that Betty had grown dependent on her. There were always people at Betty's house—strangers, Joan liked strangers. Each new person's story was a new book unfolding before her eyes. Their lives were complex to her and attracted while they repelled. Joan wanted to feel the easy freedom of self-expression but she didn't want to relinquish her own ideas. Her "ideas" were the things that she had been born and bred to, the inherent qualities that are sometimes called morals but which in reality are the signals of good taste and balanced judgment.

She had had to cancel her first date with Donald Newberry. It was one of those frequent evenings when Julian demanded her time. Julian was not always fair or considerate of her; he didn't ever tell her in advance that he wanted her time. But he did always ask her if she were busy those nights. Joan never had the courage to tell him that she might have been.

When, at last, Donald called her again, it was one of those times when she was in the midst of work with Julian.

"Tonight at seven-thirty," she said

into the telephone with one eye in Julian's direction. "I'll be ready . . ."

Julian hadn't the slightest intention of working that night but a frown crossed his brow immediately and Joan was quick to see it and be answered by it.

"Save! Save! Save you for a cocktail and a snack supper!" Joan agreed. "Sounds perfect," Joan agreed. She was glad that Donald hadn't suggested cocktails at his apartment.

They saw the new Gershwin musical that night and when they were in the taxi going east after the theater, Donald turned to ask Joan where she would like to go to dance at the precise moment that Joan tried unsuccessfully to stifle a yawn.

"I'm not a bit bored," she said immediately. "In fact I'm not even tired but I've been cooped up writing all day, having no air and that always makes me heavy."

"If you're sure you're not sleepy, let's go somewhere and talk." He gave a Park avenue address to the driver.

Joan realized it. They had arrived at the door of a fashionable apartment house and Joan was being helped out.

"I haven't an etching in the place," Donald said. "But I do have some other things I think you'd like to see."

Joan called herself an idiot for not preventing or forestalling the situation. She did not want to go to Donald Newberry's apartment. Not that she had any reason to distrust Donald but she was fair enough to know that if anything did happen that would be unwelcome, it would be her fault. "Nice girls," Joan assumed, did not go to a man's apartment alone with him. In true she was to find out that the convention was considerably changed, but her instincts were right.

"But, Donald!" Joan was simply astounded. "Is this where you live?"

They walked through a wide hall to a huge duplex living room. Rich Oriental rugs muffled their footsteps. Great sofas of silken damask faced each other before the wide hearth. Tapestry curtains were drawn over the window that was almost the whole width of the room. Golden lamps filtered soft rays on the oil paintings hung on the other walls. Bowls of long-stemmed flowers perfumed the room, and a mingling of the woody scent of the burning logs.

It was a room that absorbed one into its luxurious perfection. Its form and color was a flattering background. Joan sank into a corner of the lounge. Her spread skirts of chiffon made a splash of saffron yellow on the garnet silk.

She sighed very softly. "It's beautiful."

"So are you. You belong here," Donald turned a glance toward the mantel. "How would you like to live here?"

But, of course! Joan studied Donald's black and white perfection outlined slimly against the white of the hearthside.

Donald was the man she should fall in love with. It wouldn't be hard.

Draw me down to thy side,

CONTRACT BRIDGE

CAN NORTH MAKE 4-SPADES?

The final result cannot be altered by his refusal to take the trick. East's best lead back is the J of hearts, putting dummy in with the A. East's return lead of either a diamond or club will not, however, for the least upset what North is about to accomplish. Only the sequence of tricks won by declarer will be changed. Suppose East leads the J of hearts, putting dummy in with the Ace, at the sixth trick.

Bidding went: South, 1-No Trump; North, 2-Spades; East, 3-Hearts; South, 3-No Trumps; North, 4-Spades, very wisely; West doubled.

The opening lead was the K of clubs. Not wishing to establish dummy's Q of clubs, the Q of hearts was next led, and the trick won with dummy's K. See how you would play the hand from that point, against defenders' best play.

Lead the 9 of spades. West can win nothing by covering. The 9 will hold and East will show out. Lead the 4. Cover with West's 6. Win with declarer's 8. East will find two discards of low hearts as good as any other play.

Lead a low club from North's hand. East may as well win with his Ace.

Dummy is in the lead, and to go game West must not be given more than a single trick. Lead dummy's Ace and K of diamonds. All will follow suit. Lead a third round of diamonds, putting West in the lead with his third and last defensive trick. West has left only his two spades, and he must lead one of them. It makes no difference which spade West leads. Declarer must win the last two tricks, and he will fulfill his contract.

Lead the 9 of spades. West can win nothing by covering. The 9 will hold and East will show out. Lead the 4. Cover with West's 6. Win with declarer's 8. East will find two discards of low hearts as good as any other play.

Lead a low club from North's hand. East may as well win with his Ace.

DIET AND HEALTH

Exhibit Shows Advances in Diabetes Treatment

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
AT THE American Medical Association, the diabetic school conducted by Dr. Elliot Joslin of Boston, was an indication of two things—first, that the medical profession believes in a widespread dissemination of knowledge of the modern treatment of diabetes. They believe that the public should know of the advances that have been made in the treatment of diabetes. They believe that the public should know of the possibilities of relief of symptoms and control of the disease by present methods. They also believe that physicians should have special instruction from recognized experts in the field.

At the exhibit trays with special diabetic meals were put out to show the schemes of diet used at prominent institutions in Boston, New York, Rochester, Minnesota and other medical centers. Here was a tray with the actual food which a diabetic patient should eat under certain circumstances at one meal.

Very striking were the statistics which showed the difference between the death rate in diabetic physicians and diabetic laymen. It must be assumed that the physician would know more about the disease and could probably treat himself more intelligently, and this was certainly reflected in the statistics which showed that physicians managed to live and control their diabetes 10 to 20 times better than the public at large. This means, certainly, that the disease is amenable, not to some startling and spectacular medication or other treatment, but to intelligent application of the principles of treatment already established.

Certainly the conclusion is inevitable that with wider knowledge of the nature of the disease, a better control can be a thing of reality.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Female Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

They also set up a laboratory, showing all the tests that should be made from time to time on a diabetic patient, and there was a laboratory technician present to demonstrate these to the visiting doctors, who were the scholars of this diabetic school.

Pickaway county graduates are extending a vote of thanks to the B. P. O. Elks No. 77 for the most enjoyable evening's entertainment Thursday.

The hall was decorated in the Elks colors, purple and white, with long streamers festooned from the ceiling to the stage. A similar trimming was used around the balcony. The stage where the orchestra was seated, represented a gateway, and shaded lights in purple topped the gate posts. A large greeting card was suspended above the entrance with greetings to the seniors and friends of the B. P. O. Elks.

One hundred and twenty five couples enjoyed dancing until a late hour to the strains of the George Boller Society orchestra. Their music elicited many favorable comments from the dancers. Vocal numbers by the soloists were particularly enjoyed.

The committee in charge of arrangements were Tom A. Renick, chairman; Bishop Given, Andrew Thomas, Gilbert Starkey, Paul D. Miller and Joseph W. Adkins, Jr. They were assisted by the following members of the house committee: Robert Young, Earl Smith, James Carpenter, and Wallace Crist.

CINCINNATI OIL

Cities Service Team Wipes
Out Four Run Lead to Win 6 to 4

The Cities Service Oils came to life Thursday evening to knock the Cincinnati Oils out of their undisputed first place position in the softball league. The Cincinnati crew and the Eagles are now tied for the top rung.

Clarence Heilinger's boys overcame a four run lead to vanquish the leaders. The Cincinnati Oils scored all their runs in the first inning on three infield errors and two hits. Then they were through. The only threat they made was in the eighth when Bill Hegele, pitcher, tried to win his own ball game with a triple. He "died" on third base.

The Cities Service gang tallied two in the second inning, three in the third and one in the fifth.

Leonard Buskirk was in rare form for the winners. He gave hits and refused a charity stroll to first base. Hegele was not in his best form and was hit hard and often.

Tonight the Given Oils and Pickaway Daily play.

Next week's schedule follows:

Monday: Eschelman Feeds vs. Eagles.

Tuesday: Cities Service vs. Pickaway Daily.

Wednesday: Given Oils vs. Eschelman Feeds.

Thursday: Cincinnati Oils vs. Pickaway Daily.

Friday: Cities Service vs. Eagles.

OWENS AGAINST TROJANS
IS CHICAGO BATTLE-CRY

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—(UP)—The far west, which carted off the National collegiate track and field meet to California for two straight years and won all the medals in its own backyard, raided the middle west today for another team title as the 15th annual championships opened at Stagg field in a tense Olympic atmosphere.

Southern California, three times a winner and twice runnerup, was a slight favorite to hold its crown. The miracle legs of Jesse Owens once more made Ohio State the chief challenger, with the final result hinging on the support his teammates give the Buckeye flyer.

They assumed the appearance of a wrecking crew as far as the par 71 was concerned. Most everyone agreed that the winner would have to beat par for the $850 that goes with first place.

A number of local golfers are planning to follow Tom Thompson to Chillicothe Saturday afternoon to see the Hagen match. Thompson will be Hagen's partner against Joe Blanton and Bill Girard.

Another from Fire

The Red Birds pulled another from the fire last night—Beaten 4 to 3 as the last of the ninth started, they pounded over two runs to beat Indianapolis—Fawcett put the Indians ahead in the first half of the final frame with a homer—An infield error, a double by Jack Winslet, a walk to Cullip and Pitcher Nelson Potter's pinch hit to right scored the winning runs with one out.

Small Loops Help

THOUGH the Pacific Coast league has produced probably the year's outstanding rookie in Joe Di Maggio, of the Yankees, a survey of the crop reveals that the smaller minors are beating the big coast loop in point of mass production.

Likely youngsters have come up this year from the Southern and Texas leagues. Even the Class B Piedmont circuit has sent two stars up to the National league. Stuart Martin, who has replaced Frisch at second base for the Cardinals, and Les Scarsella, first baseman of the Reds.

Southern league commodities shown to advantage in big league markets are Jimmy Gleason, outfielder of the Indians; Buddy Lewis, flashy third baseman and Walter Millies, catcher for the Senators; Jim Henry, pitcher, and Skeets Dickey, catcher for the Red Sox; Harry Kelley, pitcher for the Athletics, and Johnny Lanning, young hurler for the Bees.

From the Texas league, which abounds in pitching talent, come Lee Grissom, southpaw of the Reds; Russ Evans of the White Sox; Earl Caldwell of the Browns; Red Phillips of the Tigers, and Max Butcher of the Dodgers. The Texas loop also kicks in with Lynn King, outfielder of the Cardinals.

Dozen from Association

The Coast league is not even keeping pace with the other AA leagues, the American Association and International league, in furnishing ivory for the majors. Besides Di Maggio, the only promising rooks from the Pacific loop are Gene Lillard of the Cubs and Joe Becker, third string catcher of the Indians. The Association has sent up a dozen men and the International almost as many. Stand-outs in the Association crop are Buddy Hassett, first baseman of the Dodgers; Brusie Odrogowski, Cards' catcher; Dennis Galehouse, Indians' pitcher; Monte Stratton, pitcher, and Mike Kreech, outfielder, of the White Sox, and Julie Giuliana, catcher for the Browns.

CUBS AND DODGERS VIE,
SEEKING NEW RECORDS

NEW YORK, June 19.—(UP)—Chicago's National League champion Cubs moved into Brooklyn for a three-game series with the Dodgers today with both clubs in the market for new records.

The Cubs are in a winning streak which has reached 13 consecutive games, the longest in the majors since the Cubs put on their record 21-game burst last fall. The Dodgers, staid proponents of baseball in reverse, are headed just the other way.

'Heavy' Contest on Tonight's Schedule

NEW YORK, June 19.—(UP)—The strange fistic extravaganza which headlines Joe Louis of Detroit—the man who can't lose—against Max Schmeling of Germany—the man who can't win—will take place tonight in Yankee stadium, weather permitting, after a 24-hour postponement because of rain.

The international heavyweight bout, scheduled for 15 rounds between the 22-year-old Negro who, they say, can't miss becoming champion, and the 30-year-old German who once held the title, is likely to go on tonight. The weather bureau promised fair weather and moderate temperature. If a second postponement should be necessary, the bout will be held Saturday afternoon in opposition to a crucial ball game across the Harlem river between the New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals.

If Promoter Mike Jacobs, who is becoming as touchy as a hen guarding her flock, because of the many difficulties he has encountered in this promotion, does not get the fight on tonight, the sports writers may ridicule it right out of Yankee stadium. To the journalistic profession the fight has become a "legal execution."

A liberal forecast places the probable attendance at 70,000 and the gross gate at $750,000. Louis and Schmeling each will receive 30 per cent of the net gate, which is likely to be about $400,000, or nearly $200,000 each.

With the weighing-in ceremony and physical examinations accomplished yesterday at the Hippodrome theatre, recently leased by Jacobs for indoor fights, the two fighters will not face each other again until they meet in the ring tonight at 9 p. m. (EST). Louis scaled 198, Schmeling 192. The Brown Bomber's weight was a surprise, but he is likely to come in tonight weighing about 202. Trainer Jack Blackburn estimated he would pick up at least four pounds because of the postponement.

Louis weighed 199 1/2 for Max Baer, 190 1/2 for Charley Retzlaff, 200 1/2 for Paulino Uzcudun, and 195 1/2 for King Levinsky. Blackburn said he has purposely dried him out to bring him in under 200.

Despite Schmeling's failure to crack in the presence of Louis at yesterday's weighing-in the Brown Bomber remained a 10-1 betting favorite to win and a 3-1 favorite to score a K. O. Even money was quoted that the German don't come up for the eighth round. With no Schmeling money in sight, the fight probably will set an all time low for betting on a major bout.

YESTERDAY'S HERO: Bob Smith, 38-year-old veteran of the Boston Bees' mound staff, who held the league leading St. Louis Cardinals to two hits.

CLUBS IN EASTERN HALF OF ASSOCIATION STRONG

COLUMBUS, June 19.—(UP)—Clubs in the eastern half of the American Association today held a wide advantage over their high ranked western foes upon completion of the second intersectional series of the season.

Playing at home, the eastern clubs won 40 games and lost 25. On the first trip east, Western clubs had the edge, winning 32 games and losing 16.

Indianapolis and Columbus had the best records against the western opponents. Indianapolis won 13 games and lost four, while Columbus gained 11 triumphs and lost five contests. Louisville won eight games and lost seven, while Toledo won eight and dropped nine.

None of the western clubs played 500 per cent ball during the invasion. The first place Milwaukee club had the best record with eight triumphs in 17 starts. Minneapolis won seven and lost 10; St. Paul took six decisions and lost nine, while Kansas City triumphed but five times in 17 starts.

Girl Under Knife 28 Times
TORONTO, Ont. (UP)—Lucy Hetherington, 15, is recovering from her 28th surgical operation here. The girl fell while playing on the street eight years ago, and inflammation of the bone set in. Since then she has spent most of her life in hospitals.

Remember When?

Elmer Wolf and Monroe Valentine narrowly escaped drowning at the Darby creek ford near the waterworks.

The men crossed the ford on Jan. 22, 1914 to attend a sale. They learned it had been postponed and when re-crossing the stream the horse stepped off the roadway into deep water. Both men jumped from the buggy. The horse tore loose from Mr. Valentine managed to swim out of the icy water and rescued Mr. Wolf who was clinging to a rock ledge. They were given dry clothes at the home of D. H. Niles.

The hill-billy tenant has one advantage over most people. He is wholly reconciled to the only kind of life he is fit for.

ASHVILLE

Mrs. Vera Tosca, sons Harold and Jean and daughter Joan and Miss Kathryn Baum left Tuesday for Old Orchard Maine, where they will spend the summer months.

Mrs. Reese D. Bach and daughter, Virginia Lee of St. Louis, Mo., are spending several days with Mrs. Bach's father, Mr. S. C. Allison, Clarence Kerns of Chicago, Ill., spent a few days with his mother, Mrs. Minnie Snyder.

Mrs. George Dixon of Dixon, Ill., and Mrs. Ernest Miller of St. Charles, Ill., spent last week with their sister, Mrs. Harry Rhodes.

Mrs. Elizabeth Markell of Decatur, Ind., has been visiting her brother, J. R. Hedges and family. Mrs. George D. Steinert and daughter, Eleanor, are spending several weeks at Bernard Parks.

Rev. and Mrs. Herman E. and family are visiting their parents at Canal Fulton, Ohio.

Miss Anna Lou Boesinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Boesinger of near Circleville spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Bates Alexander and family.

Since the fall in the massacre of women and children from the air by Italians Mussolini is striking fewer and fewer balcony poses. Perhaps the Doochay is sighing for more women and children to slaughter.

PICKAWAY COUNTY FARMERS START TO CUT WHEAT

BAKER REPORTS
SIX-ACRE TRACT
LIGHT AND DRYPasture Presenting Serious Problem; Milk Shortage is Possibility

First reports of wheat cutting reached Circleville Friday.

Nelson Baker, Jackson township farmer, reported he finished cutting a six-acre field of wheat Thursday afternoon and had opened up a larger field.

Marvin Steeley, Washington township, expected to start cutting Friday afternoon. Next week the harvest would be in full swing. Baker reported the small field he finished cutting would thresh out very light. He said the wheat seemed to be dried out rather than properly filled and ripened. The straw was short.

Farmers from various districts report the crop this year will be about average.

One of the most serious problems confronting dairy farmers at the present time is pasture.

Abnormal rains are needed to provide good pasture, Reed Shafer, manager of the Pickaway Dairy Association, announced Friday morning.

Mr. Shafer said continued dry weather might cause a serious milk shortage.

POLICE PROBE
STRANGE CASE

Mother and Two Children
Found Strangled

PITTSBURGH, June 19.—(UP)—A murder theory, unsubstantiated by either motive or evidence to show how the victims were approached, baffled authorities in their investigation today of deaths of Mrs. Martin J. Feely and her two children.

Bodies of the children, Robert, 5, and Janice, 3, were found in beds in a playroom late last night. The mother lay face downward on the living room floor. All had been strangled. Mrs. Feely had received two wounds in the temple from an ice pick, which was found on the floor nearby. The children also had stab wounds in the head.

John Artz, coroner's investigator, said suicide of the mother was a physical impossibility, considering the method of strangulation, the two temple wounds, and the position of the body.

KENT RIOTERS
SENT TO JAIL

Burr and Police Chief S. C. West, the truck was backed against the door of the tiny brick jail and the strike breakers pushed inside. Deputies kicked slow moving ones unmercifully to enforce demands for haste.

Before the prisoners had been jammed into the jail's six inadequate cells, bricks and stones were pelting the walls. The crowd outside booed and screamed. Belligerent units pushed time after time almost to the jail door, where the deputies, policemen and four National Guard observers stood on guard.

mood gradually and when word was passed about that the strike breakers had been charged formally with shooting with intent to wound, the crowd began dispersing. Early today the last of the crowd melted away.

Burr announced that as soon as peace was assured he would take his prisoners to Ravenna, but he canceled the plan in fear that it might cause a new disturbance.

The strike breakers were ordered arraigned at 10 a. m. on charges preferred by leaders of the Machanists Union that closed the Black and Decker plant with a strike on May 3.

Strikers said the strike breakers precipitated the riot by firing shotguns and tear gas into a picket line yesterday morning.
